Orangutan Caring Week AI Art Contest Rules

Each person may submit 2 entries.

Deadline Friday, Nov. 10th, 2023, 12:00 pm EST

Artwork must be created using any AI image generator of your choice (like Bing Image Creator). Your prompts can be serious or fun, any art style – but prompts must include the word “orangutan”. Let your imagination run wild! (Our prompt for the contest image was created with Bing Image Creator using the prompt “an orangutan artist painting in the rainforest, impressionism”.)

Entries should be emailed to: Orangaware@gmail.com

All entries must include:

- Your name:
- Email address:
- Prompt used to generate photo:
- Image creator used:
- Permission to use your name when announcing the winner: ____Yes ____No

Winners will be chosen by means of the most “likes” on social media. Albums will be uploaded to our Facebook and Instagram accounts at the start of Orangutan Caring Week on Nov. 12th with voting ending Friday, Nov. 17th and the winners announced on the last day of OCW, Nov. 18th. (Depending on the number of submissions, we may need to include a limited number of our favorite submissions for voting.)

Prizes:

First prize: A Virtual Adoption of Papa donated by Orangutan Outreach <https://redapes.org/papa>

Second prize: A certificate for trees planted in your name through the Orang Utan Republik Foundation's Adopt-a-Tree Program <https://www.orangutanrepublik.org/get-involved/plant-a-tree/>

Orangutan Caring Week is a worldwide event held annually every November. It began as Orangutan Awareness Week, but it soon became apparent that just being aware of the plight of orangutans was not enough. We need to care...and care enough to be moved to action to save these incredible red-haired apes and their rainforest homes.
